ABBOTT WINGED INFUSION SETS (Butterfly®):

Winged infusion sets, or Butterflies, automatically align the needle in the bevel-up position and provide firm needle control, eliminating needle roll during insertion. After venipuncture, the wings of the butterfly spread flat, providing firm anchorage for taping and less chance of pressure irritation to the patient as there is no needle hub. To minimize the possibility of needle movement within the vein, the winged infusion set comes with a short needle shaft and flexible tubing in regular or short lengths.

TERUMO WINGED INFUSION SETS (Surflo®):

The Surflo winged infusion set is designed to provide body-contoured attachment. The needle is bonded to the wings at an angle that allows for it to remain patent, permitting continued access with a single insertion. The soft, pliable wings are grooved to enhance flexibility and the soft tubing resists kinking and curling. To prevent leakage, the set is configured with a luer lock adapter.

Contact of Paclitaxel (TAXOL® Bristol-Myers Squibb) with administration sets, IV bottles, or IV bags containing PVC results in leaching of the plasticizer DEHP. Solutions of TAXOL® should be prepared and stored in glass, polypropylene, or polyolefin containers. TAXOL® should be administered using non-PVC containing administration sets, such as those which are polyethylene-lined, using an in-line filter with microporous membrane not greater than 0.22 microns. Refer to the TAXOL® package insert for additional information.
